Dear members and friends of The Contemplative Society,

In this time of great change, The Contemplative Society has real, on-the-ground work to do in preparing the next generation of teachers and learners. And we need your help.

From the start, The Contemplative Society has been a pioneer, setting new benchmarks in contemplative networking (in particular, providing resources for both Centering Prayer and Christian Meditation), strong and imaginative encouragement of local leadership and upcoming teachers, and a website that is simply unparalleled in its elegance and serviceability. My work would be lost without it.

TCS is probably also the only contemplative group in North America pioneering international and regional programming as well – a treasure shared and supported by members all over the world.

I heartily encourage you to donate to The Contemplative Society today – whether that means your first donation, or an increase in your current contribution, every gift supports our pioneering work.

With much love and appreciation,

Cynthia
